Forecast For Yorkshire & the Humber
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 29 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy, with rain or drizzle gradually easing. Turning cold overnight.

Today:
Cloud will thicken through the morning, with outbreaks of mostly light rain or drizzle spreading south. These easing through the afternoon, but remaining cloudy throughout. Any lingering rain potentially turning wintry across higher hills by the evening. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Cold overnight, with any wintry showers soon fading. Clearing skies will then bring a risk of icy patches, along with a widespread frost and some freezing fog patches by dawn. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Saturday:
Cold and crisp start, although any freezing fog patches will be slow to clear. Sunny spells following, with most parts dry. Staying cold, with a brisk breeze developing. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Cold, frosty start Sunday, then dry with cloud thickening. Cold, frosty start Monday, then cloudy with isolated wintry showers. Windy, with snow possible Tuesday, but likely turning to rain later.
